On 26 January 1954, soldiers observed at the barracks installation in Kagrán (P 49/X 49) wore red-bordered black epaulets, including some with tank and artillery insignia. Excepting the AAA section, the billeting area contained 8 tanks and 20 other motor vehicles of various types. Three canvas-covered full-track armored vehicles with guns with a funnel-shaped muzzle were standing in the shed in the ditch between the installation and the athletic field. Two groups, each of eight soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets, received field training and did aiming practice with submachine guns and light machine guns in the ditch. Truck ☐ driven by a soldier with red-bordered black epaulets entered the installation. Eleven tank trucks ☐ were observed in a shed at the fuel dump. Truck ☐ was refuelled.
